Summary

Burglary 101 is a fun game for all ages. You control a young thief who is trying to make his way as a career criminal. Unfortunately, to gain access to his chosen profession he must first gain the respect of his peers. To do this the player must visit a few places around town and show the other criminals that he has what it takes to be accepted into their gang.

They make the young hopeful rob liquor stores, museums, wealthy homes, and finally, a bank. After all this is accomplished your boss will congratulate you on a job well done and show you how you have done against other criminals doing the same work by means of a high scores list.

How to Play

Game play is relatively simple. The arrow keys move your character as you try to gain money and get lock picking tools to escape custody. Avoid the guards and the vision of the security cameras and you’re home free… as long as you can find the door out.

Backstory

You are a young burglar trying to work your way up in the “industry.” You are a small time crook trying to work your way up to the big leagues, but you can’t do this by walking into a place and shooting it up. You need to break in at night when the place is quiet and avoid the security system that is in place. Only once you have proven yourself will you truly be accepted for the master criminal that you are.
